May 16th 2018 Versailles, Paris, France

Sponsored by the French President Emmanuel Macron and organized by the office of the French Prime Minister, the France and China Young Leaders Annual Gala took place at the prestigious French cultural heritage, Chateau De Versailles, on May 16th 2018. Edouard Philippe, the French Prime Minister, hosted the gala dinner celebrated by a group of elite French and Chinese young entrepreneurs who are recognized by their distinguished contributions to the French and Chinese economies.

Among senior French officials who attended this exclusive grand ceremony were French Prime Minister Mr. Edouard Philippe, Diplomatic Advisor in the Prime Minister Cabinet, Mr. Emmanuel Lenain, Special Envoy for French President Emmanuel Macron and former French Prime Minister Mr. Jean-Pierre Raffarin, as well as senior officials from the Elysee office of the President and the Ministry of Finance and Economy.

Margot Song, President of eJnnn Phecca Partners, was invited to the event and received a warm welcome from the French Prime Minister. Other invitees to this event included French Power ENGIE, L'Oreal, Kering, AXA Assurance, China Everbright Group, Huawei, CITIC Bank, and Alibaba.

In his opening speech, Mr. Edouard Philippe recognized that the “Young Leaders” program has carried out the mission of promoting the economic and cultural exchanges between France and China. The program has tremendously propelled the dynamic communications among top commercial and cultural creativities. The French Prime Minister himself had also been one of the select members of this “Young Leaders” program, which served as an evidence of the program’s predictability for future leaders and talents. Mr. Edouard Philippe wished the “Young Leaders” program much success in carrying on its influence, while he looked forward to his first official visit to China next month.

At the Versailles War Gallery, which features a collection salon most representative of the 17th Century French artworks, Madam Margot Song thoroughly enjoyed dinner with the French Prime Minister, as well as the French and Chinese business leaders and political elites.

During the gala party, Madam Song had a delightful reunion with Mr. Raffarin, an old friend to Madam Song and an active promoter of Sino-French economic collaborations. Mr. Raffarin fully credited the relentless effort eJnn Phecda Partners devoted into the Sino-French environmental businesses. The two struck an accord on how to further establish Sino-French leadership in ecology preservation and environmental services.

Mr. Jean-Pierre Raffarin, nick named “Mr. China”, was considered a pioneer in spearheading France China bilateral collaborations for over 15 years and has a deep understanding of the Chinese culture, its government and people. He has been a special envoy to China for President Macron since he took office in May 2017.

In the evening of May 16, Madam Song had one-on-one conversations with Mr. Emmanuel Lenain. The two shared their viewpoints on the development of a Green Program in France to support French SMEs in clean energy sector, and explored long-term cooperation plans on eJnn’s environmental services footprint in France.

The office of the French Prime Minister expressed sincere respects and best wishes to Madam Song, and looked forward to visiting eJnn Phecda Partners next month during the French Prime Minister’s visit to China.
